

Contact: Debra McGhan
907-982-0332
dmcghan@alaskasnow.org

March 30, 2017

Alaska Media Group - Attn: danny@alaskaaim.com Moving 105.7

Hey Snow Lovers, the Alaska Avalanche Information Center here with your weekly Snow Report thanks to support from Moving 105.7!

New snow and warming temperatures will increase the likelihood of avalanches this weekend throughout the Turnagain and Mat-Su mountain regions. Be sure to check current forecasts at Alaska Snow Dog Org before heading out.

Good fat bike riding has been reported on Moose Range trails near Hatcher Pass and in the Government Peak Recreation Area. Lazy Mountain Winter Multi Use trails are ready for skiers and riders.

More new snow in Portage Valley will make for slow going for riders and skiers.

If you're heading to Valdez this weekend, don't forget to stop in at the Valdez Avalanche Center's Basecamp in Thompson Pass. They will be there through mid-April with avalanche forecasts and education programs to support the spring rider crowds.

Arctic Man is set for April 3 through 8 at Summit Lake and Alaska Avalanche Information Center forecasters will be there to provide current snow and avalanche conditions as well as free workshops with support from AARP Alaska and the Alaska Department of Public Safety. For more details, or for all things snow, visit Alaska Snow dot org.

Before you venture into the backcountry check current avalanche information. Be prepared, always carry proper rescue gear, and use safe travel practices so you can Live to Ride Another Day!

That's it for this week. Enjoy Alaska and Think snow!

Alaska Avalanche Information Center, Inc. www.alaskasnow.org 907-255-2242